Some three or four schools were repreented and an enjoyable time was ha rcises were as follows: At ten o'clock the meeting was called to order by the Rev. Joseph Turner in the church building. After the singing of of an appropriate hymn, prayer was offered by Rev. H. C. Sanford. Candies were then distributed among the children, and your correspondent must have been considered among the number, for on leaving the Church he found his pockets literally packed with sweet meats. After repairing to the grove, about 20 yards distant, the first exercise was a half hour's talk to the men and women, boys and girls, by your correspondent, at the conclusion of which the conductor wisely came to the conclusion that before the audience could endure any more such inflictions, it was necessary to fortify the physical nature somewhat, and he proposed that all adjourn to dinner, proposed that all adjourn to dinner, which they did with a relish. I will not attempt to describe the dinner or dinners, rather, for each family had their own most bountiful repast—just such as Mar-shall county's good ladies know how to

After dinner the audience, now much increased, gathered around the stand, and short addresses were delivered by J. A. Ewing, Esq., Walter Evans and Wm. M. Warden, of Moundaville and Dr. W. short addresses were desirected by 3. M. Warden, of Moundsville, and Dr. Wayt, of Limestone. The addresses were very good, and were listened to patiently by an appreciative audience. At the close various amusements were indulged in, and when we left some were, lounging, some eating ice cream, but by far the greatest number were engaged in the charming game of Copenhagen, without which a Marshall county picnic is a tame affair, so says one of the ladies of Moundsville. No doubt the young folks enjoyed themselves in the grove until the shades of night began to fall.

Services were held on the Camp grounds yesterday, both morning and svening. At 109 o'clock Rev. J. M. Warden preached from the text, "To the Universe of Med When ye ignorably workers and the sevening and we ignorably workers."

Warden preached from the text, "To the Unknown God Whom ye ignorantly worship, Him declare I unto you." To say the sermon was an able effort does not expense half we felt. Some one remarked that Rev. Warden excelled himself. It was a deep, logical and feeling discourse, and we doubt whether there will be a more able sermon delivered during the approaching camp meeting. At 5 o'clock P. M. Rev. J. B. Pomerov, of the Presylverian Church, preached from the words "In the transgression of the wicked is a saare, but the righteous doth sing and rejoice." The sermon was an excellent one, plain and practical and very pointed. The principal points made were the danger of the way of the transgressor and the safety of the way of the righteous. About 200 people were present and the speaker was heard throughout with the deepest attention.

The Process of Putting the City of Chester in a Sectional Dock.

From the New York Sun, 51.

The City of Chester, of the Inman line, while nearing Sandy Hook on Friday, stopped to take on a pilot. As her engines were started again, a shock that ran through her machinery told of the breakage of her propeller.

After this discovery, two found that whatever of the wheel was left osely on the shaft, ond that its

The crack had run directly through the hub, leaving hardly enough of it to clasp the shaft. The ten tons of iron that yet hung on the huge shaft, over a foot in dismeter, dangled out of place. A new wheel has been borrowed from a steamship not now in use, and when the broken wheel has been released by drawing the end of the shaft into the vessel, it will be hoisted into its place. It is expected that the vessel will go off the dry dock to-day, and will sail to-morrow: Her advertised sailing day was yesterday. The fact that there will have been a delay of only two days is credited to, the energetic action of Mr. Inman, ing from the Turks to the Russians, the most important fact to be noted is the fearful havor which disease is making among them. Throughout the empire the death list is and has been terrible du-ring the last month. Out of thirty-three doctors in Asia Minor Dr. Ryan informed methat no less than twenty two had died Probably half of those who have been in the country have been down with fever. Everywhere in and around Constantin ple death has been busy. A short time go Dr. Master of the Compassionate und, was carried off by typhus. No statistics of the slightest value are kept of the number of deaths among the population of the capital, or possibly Europe might be appalled at our death rate. In the Turkish army, too, there are many fatal cases of typhus and typhoid. It is unnecessary to remind your readers of the loss which they have sustained from the loss which they have sustained from loss which they have sustained rouns, or rather from a combination of aus and typhoid. In the opinion of Patterson, the superintendent of the ish hospital in Constantinople, and see watchful ears helped to sooth his hours, poor MacGahan died of a com-tion of these diseases. Correspondence of the Intelligencer.

The market for Ohio tobacco has been quite active during the past month, and the total sales amount to about 3,000 hids. Buyers for Dulaburg and Bremen purchased freely; at present there is a good demand for spangled and fine red tobacco, for which fair prices are obtained, and we would advise further shipments of such grades.

The French agents also entered the market and bought 310 hids. of common to medium tobacco from our neighbors. We have persistently refused to sell any tobacco to the French agents. To day Mr. Kremelberg, the French buver, again what he considered to be his had paid yet, but we decli and insisted on full prices: the large quantity the Fr died in and acceptable of the days ago described his station to me as rapidly becoming a graveyard, and all that I can learn from those who have valled the Russian lines during the past few days confirms what I have myself seen. Bad as things are in Constantinople and in the Turkish lines, they are still worse among the Russians. afternoon and return early in the even-ing. When he got to Little Falls he concluded to go further, and drove on to Newark, 10 or 12 miles beyond, and did not get back to Paterson until 9 or 10 o'olock, when the horse was found to be in a very bad condition from overdriving, and died the next morning. The invariable remedy of New Jersey in such cases is by an action on the case of violation of contract, but the counsel for planniff brought his action for trover and conversion, which he thought a safe course in suing an infant. He claimed that the moment Overdijking drove the horse beyond Little Falls he not only violated his contract but that he was guilty of converting the horse to his own use. The defense strenuously objected to this, but the court sustained the claim, and the facts being proved, found the defendant guilty of trover and conversion, and assessed the damages at $200 in favor of plaintiff. It is said to be the first action of the kind ever tried in New Jersey; at least, there is none reported in the books.
